

Information

Web Site: City of Delphi

City of Delphi Meeting Minutes

Highways

- Interstate 65 - 18 miles
- U.S. 421 - 7 miles
- Indiana 218 - in Camden
- Indiana 75 - in Camden

Rail

- Norfolk & Southern Railroad

Air

- Purdue University - 31 miles
- Indianapolis INTL - 64 miles
- Delphi Municipal - 11 miles
- Flora Municipal - 6 miles
- White County - 11 miles

Utilities:

- Electric - Duke Energy
- Natural Gas - NIPSCO
- Water - Delphi Water Works
- Sanitation - Delphi Sewage Treatment Plant

Population Census Year:

2000 - 3,015
2010 - 2,893

Map Us!

{mosmap width='400px'|height='300px'|lat='40.586141'|lon='-86.673992'|zoom='14'| zoomType

The City of Delphi is the county seat and only city in Carroll County. The Delphi Mayor is Shane Evans and City Council members are Carolyn Pearson, Dick Traeger, Brian Garrison, Mike Shockley, and Dale Seward and the city's Clerk-Treasurer is Leann Aldrich.

Delphi is home to the Delphi Community School Corporation , a large network of parks and trails, numerous businesses, and the new replica canal boat on the Wabash & Erie Canal. In Delphi's earliest days, it was known for its large pork-packing business, and now it hosts the county's largest employer Indiana Packers Corporation , just south of the city.

Delphi's history has been greatly influenced by various forms of transportation. It is on the Wabash River and Deer Creek--both important waterways. The first state highway from Terre Haute to Fort Wayne was routed through Delphi in 1828. Stagecoach and mail routes came through Delphi. The Wabash & Erie Canal also had a big influence on all aspects of life in Delphi. The Canal Era ended with the arrival of the railroads. Later on the electric Interurban rail service connected Delphi to points east and west.

Delphi's downtown has many three-story historic business buildings, including some on the National Register of Historic Places. Residential areas also include many fine historic homes. Both business and residential architecture and construction were influenced by the relative wealth during the Canal era from the 1830s to the 1870s.

The Wabash & Erie Canal Park and Interpretive Center celebrate the role that the Canal played in opening Indiana and the West to settlement and the ensuing economic development. Another attraction is the Delphi Opera House which has been completely renovated and open since October 2015. For complete information, visit their website Delphi Opera House.